"THE LONE ROUND-UP"

Universal Two-Reel Drama

Starring JACK DOUGHERTY

CORWIN, a bank cashier, invites Buck's girl, Norma, to leave a dance and see the new vault. She goes, and is followed by Buck. The three are held up, and the vault robbed; but Norma manages to follow the bandits and leaves a trail of confetti behind her. When the bank officials arrive, Corwin accuses Buck of being the ringleader, and the latter is locked up. Later he is threatened with lynching by the mob who wish to know where the band has taken Norma and their gold.

Buck manages to escape from the lock-up and the mob's wrath and follows the confetti trail, arriving in time to rescue Norma, who has been detected and made prisoner by the band. Buck goes down the mine shaft to the cache where the gold is hidden, but is surprised in the act by the returning outlaws. They effect the capture of the robbers in an amusing but thrilling manner and regain the loot. The posse arrives and Corwin is forced to confess his part in the plot.
